promised that those who have only seen this company in doublet and hose will be surprised at the versa-tility of these celebrated actors. The Greet Players have just ended an engagement of twenty weeks at the Garden Theater, New York, where they presented a wide range of plays. So great was their success in New York with a presentation of "She Stoops to Conquer" that Mr. Greet has decided to offer that Mr. Greet has decided to offer that famous comedy as the opening play next week. Others to be presented in the near future are "The Professor's Love Story," by special arrangement with Mr. Will-lard; "The Middleman," "Diplomacy," "Jim, the Penman," "Lord Dun-dreary," "A Pair of Spectacles," the comedy in which Sir John Hare achieved such success during his last the Columbia Players a production of Langdon Mitchell's greatest success, "The Talk of New York," is scheduled. The play is one that afforded Mrs. Fiske the opportunity of attaining a successful run at the Lyric Theater, New York, where the play was proclaimed by critics and public as one of remarkable excellence. It is a play that is most exacting in its demands upon the players. Mrs. Fiske's interpretation of the leading role is fresh in the minds of a public that saw her here less than two years ago.

NATIONAL-"King Dedo."

"King Dodo" will be the third opera in the successful engagement of the Aborn company at the New National Theater, and that favorite composition will be given its first production next week.

next week.

The principals chosen for the cast include a number of Washington favorites, and the chorus which has already proved its worth will appear to great advantage.

CHASE'S-Polite Vaudeville.

Chase's next week will present its sea-son's crowning and closing bill heralded as embracing the "eight best" stellar comic and visual novelties brought to gether in one bill.

The list is headed by the recent farcical hit, "Baseballitis," played by the Evers-Wisdom company. The supplementary attraction will be "The Four Old Soldier Fiddlers," by two veterans of the Union side, and two sturdy survivors of the Confederate side. Little Billy, regarded as the cleveres of the diminutive comedians, will give unique specialties, accompanied by effective costume changes. An artistic and amusing feature will be contributed by Dolly Connolly and Percy Wenrich, the former syncopating songs in a style pequilarly pleasing and the latter giving engoge rivaling "Rainbow" and "Put on Your Old Gray Bonnet," of which he was the author.

ACADEMY—Vaudeville Season.

The Academy of Music will inaugurate, one week fron tomorrow, a season of vaudeville and motion pictures. The policy so successful in New York and Philadelphia of presenting three distinct performances daily, one in the afternoon and two in the evening, will be followed. The bills will be completely changed each week.

The large seating capacity of the Academy makes it possible to offer expensive vaudeville programs at low admission prices.

These things will be perfectly no;mal, and all will be well. We will be back in our orbit in two months' time, though we may have to make a circuit around our entire solar system to establish inductive screens against Canopus' efforts to throw one of our planets into the sun, and thereby destroy us. Our visit to Mars will give us the opportunity at last to realize the dream of the twentieth century, of talking to the inhabitants on Mars, and we hope to get her to co-operate with us in resisting Canopus.

Despite the best efforts of the government agents and newspapers, there was a great deal of fear among the ignorant, and reports came of wild ceremonies among savage tribes in Africa and Asia, who were preparing rengiously for a judgment day.

As the earth approached Mars, Elverson thought best to attempt to communicate with its inhabitants, if possible, and avert any misunderstanding. He and the staff of scientists experimented day and night till they have produced a
